Based on the legal sections provided, here is a summary of Section 502:

* Right to Appeal: Any person who is aggrieved by an order made under section 500 or section 501 has the right to appeal against that order. The appeal is made to the court that normally handles appeals from convictions by the court that issued the original order.

* Powers of the Appellate Court: When hearing such an appeal, the appellate court has the power to:

- * Stay the order (put it on hold) until the appeal is resolved.
- * Modify, alter, or annul (cancel) the order.
- * Make any other orders that are considered just.

* Exercise of Powers: These powers can also be exercised by a Court of appeal, confirmation, or revision when it is dealing with the case in which the original order was made.

- * (1) A court may order the officer in charge of a prison to produce a confined person before it for two main reasons: (a) for the person to answer a charge of an offense or for proceedings against them, or (b) if it is necessary to examine that person as a witness.
